

- People use simplifying assumptions
 - We group people into identifiable traits
 - Assume passing to someone “more like” the target on those characteristics will be closer to them
 - We typically only use one (or a small number) of characteristics to “simplify” on at a time

